

THE DAILY BULLETIN

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18, 1885.

The Senate has confirmed General Black as Commissioner of Pensions.

The receipts of the Dammoch German Opera Company, at Chicago, for twenty-one performances, were $73,000.

The Chinese government has asked the mediation of the United States with France is denied.

Tax office seekers who returned from the Capitol got something at least—the Washingtonague, better known as the cold shake.

GEORGE A. GRAY, Attorney General of Delaware, has been nominated by the Democrats of the Legislature to succeed Senator Bayard.

SECRETARY LAMAR and Attorney General Garland have ordered the sale of the carriage and carriage horses used in their departments.

The slight changes recently in the miners' strike at Pittsburg are regarded in favor of the miners, and the latter confidently expect that some compromise measures will be proposed.

General Grant is said to view the progress of his disease with indifference, facing death now with the same stability he did on the battle field twenty years ago. His attitude on religious matters is said to be one of unconcern.

JAMES G. BLAINE, the despatches say, is to be entertained at the White House. When he gets his legs under the oiled walnut he will probably appreciate the force of the lines:

Or all words of tongue or pen.

The saddest are these—it might have been.

The latest news of the condition of General Grant is that he is in a very critical state, and his dissolution may be expected at any time. He is suffering great pain, and though physically depressed, is bright mentally. His death was reported Monday afternoon, but was contradicted later.

From Washington comes the announcement that President Cleveland is considering the advisability of revoking the recent order of President Arthur throwing open the Winnebago reservation in Dakota. At least a million suffering patriots would be better pleased if Mr. Cleveland would revoke a former order of President Arthur, throwing open to Republicans the office reservation of the country.

The strike by the employees of the Gould system of railroads against a reduction of wages, has been peacefully and satisfactorily ended by the authorities restoring the strikers to their original pay, and traffic has been resumed at all points. The result is taken as an evidence of the revival of business, and prospect of a profitable carrying trade by the roads the present season, or otherwise there would have been a long and bitter fight to carry the ends of the railroad owners.

The failure of Hon. P. B. Thompson in the contest for Commissioner of Internal Revenue is a disappointment to his friend at home and in the country at large. His fitness for the place was not disputed, and it is said that the President and three if not four of his cabinet favored the appointment. Secretary Manning alone opposed him, at the request of Mr. Randall, who wished to control in his own interest the distribution of the patronage of the office. That his influence with the Secretary of the Treasury was powerful enough to set aside the wishes of four cabinet officers, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Representatives of twenty-six States, is a pointer that is not easily misunderstood, and suggests the question whether an honest and efficient collection of the revenue taxes of the country is desired. Mr. Thompson takes his defeat philosophically, and says that as Mr. Randall owed him nothing he could not blame him for knifing him to the heart.

And That, Too.

(Wall Street News.)

A Boston man got hold of a Westerner in hopes of getting some consolation out of the look of affairs toward sundown, but the man promptly replied:

"Well, things have just squatted out our way."

"Want's what look up a little, eh?"

"Not a look."

"Any new enterprises?"

"Not so much as building a wood-shed."

"Well do the merchants complain?"

"I should smile! They even hire folks to help 'em grow!"

"Isn't the railroad business a little more favorable?"

"Yes, they manage to run the trains, but that's about all."

"Well there must be some business in the West which holds its own," persisted the Bostonian. "How's matrimony?"

"Dear Josie's old boy's."

"The English answer. I never saw you could have married anything and anybody and counted on 6 per cent. dividends, but the general impression has flattened matrimony until a widow worth twenty thousand dollars has got to hunt a man with a gun!"

Rev. Gen. Grant sword.

(Dr. E. D. Kite in Inter-Ocean.) I noticed a short paragraph a few days ago referring to General Grant's health, to know the general pretty well, having been with him as one of his staff at different times during the war, and I never once heard him make use of any word that could be construed as meaning "dog on it." The article reminded me of a little incident that came to my notice at Memphis just previous to the general's going to Young's Point, above Vicksburg. I was making a circuit dipper when his room, when a dispatch arrived which provoked Gen. Rawlins, the chief of staff, and which Rawlins read to the general, and with some pretty rough oaths urged him to take care of it. The general, who had, I believe, disobeyed or transposed orders.

The general, in his good-humored way, turned to me and said: "Do you know what I keep in my sword? I need not tell you on account of your valuable position." "Tell me what?"

"I'll tell you what for. I never swear myself, so I keep it to do it for me when occasion needs it." The time I refer to was when Grant was in command of Ky., on his circuit from Knoxville, when a certain mule contractor wanted to secret the town with a band of his mules to avoid which he drove the horses to the Louisville and Nashville. After being stalled in the car the man came and undertook to remonstrate with Gen. Grant for giving him the slip. The general was angry and annoyed and said: "D—n on it, sir, do you want to show me around like a circus?"

Burlesque Not so Spontaneous.

(New York Letter.)

The funniest burlesque that has lately been enacted was that of an actress who has been off the stage for a year or two previous to the present week, but who may be recalled as a little woman with a quick, ugly face and wonderful ability to mimic. She was seen yesterday evening in a burlesque house, where you can see a man adjusting the rusty and long-eaten machinery of one of those old-fashioned "hurdy-gurdy's", in which a set of figures were moved by a stick and a harmonium by a man who had the look of a real harpooner. I did not long look, and the sight was vividly recalled to me on hearing the lady referred to as rehearsing for a "reappearance" in the burlesque. "I think the manager made of her a success," said the man who had the stick and who had been in contact with the rest of the "toppers." After witnessing the slow process of harnessing a couple of doggerel, a skip of the feet, a weeviling of the arm, a pout of the lips, and the right hand, he was told that she was to be the star of the show. A moment later, however, he was told that burlesque isn't as spontaneous as might be supposed on seeing it performed.

Notes of Antistorm.

(CUMBERLAND, Md., March 18.—Mr. Cornelius Smith, of Pleasant Valley, near this city, has the contract for sawing into lumber a large number of logs from the battle-field of Antietam. He says all sorts of timber, from small bats to large logs, are available, and met with in the timber, and that it is really dangerous to stand near the saws in his mills when such lumber is being cut, a number of men having been impaled and fragments when running at a high speed. A striking iron shot imbedded in the log. A large, angular fragment of a shell was struck by a saw the other day, and a perfect shower of sparks rained from the impact of the two metals. In one case, during a similar automatic accident with the rest of the loggers, a man was killed, but was replaced, with one man killed, one wounded and three captured.

A disease has appeared among the cattle of Sullivan County, Ind. The symptoms are swelling of the hind legs, prodding lameness, and ending in death in about twenty hours.

Secretary of State Bayard has decided to retain General Foster as minister to Spain, and has instructed him as to the wishes of the administration touching the Spanish treasury.

The Conotton Valley railroad, a narrow-gauge, running from Cleveland to Sherriderville, O., will be sold to satisfy a first mortgage for $5,000,000, held by the New England trust company.

Joseph Cohen, one of the contestants in the New York roller-skating contest, died from exhaustion. He had been out of work, and entered the contest to earn money for his wife and children.

The national convention of tanners and dealers in hides and leather convened in Cincinnati Monday morning. There were representatives from various parts of the United States and Europe.

The Baldwin family newspaper of Washington, D. C., has been sold to Elm W. Foy, property of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, representing the purchasers. He will be manager of the new enterprise.

A committee of the bar association of Hamilton, O., proposed to the legislature to add to the association, as a measure to prevent incompetent men getting on the bench or being elected as judges, that the association recommend to each party convention a man for judicial nominations, and to support only such recommendations as against adverse party nominations.

The candy pulling given by the ladies of the Southern Methodist Church at Chester, proved to be such a pleasant affair that by request it will be repeated next Saturday evening in the room over Schatzmann's confectionery store in East Mayville. Everybody is invited.

Dr. N. W. Tracy has been lecturing to crowded houses at Mt. Sterling and at the four meetings which have thus far been held something over six hundred persons signed the pledge of temperance. DEPUTY SHERIFF STEWART BUMHARTEN, of Rowan County, was killed on the 15th inst., on one of the roads four miles from Morehead, by some person in ambush. Twenty blankshot ledged in his body killing him instantly. The killing is said to be the direct outgrowth of a quarrel between Floyd Toliver and John Martin, at Morehead at the last August election, which resulted a few weeks after in Martin killing Toliver and the death of the latter at the hands of Toliver's friends. Great excitement prevails in Rowan County and other bloody deeds are expected to follow.

Carnival at the Rink.

A very large and select audience assembled at the rink last night to witness the Fancy Dress Carnival of the Mayville Musical Club. The whole affair passed off smoothly and reflected credit upon those in charge. While there were but few elaborate costumes on the floor, there was a happy variety in the make-up, which made an agreeable sight. As the merry-makers glided over the floor to the strains of music as disbursed by Stieley's orchestra, we caught the following names and characters:

Mrs. B. D. Phister, ghost.
Miss A. Watson, snow.
Miss A. Stockton, a señorita.
Miss Mata Stockton, gipsy.
Miss Lillian Hanson, peasant.

What They do in New Orleans Now-a-days.

The great crowds in New Orleans, at the exposition, liberally contributed the audience present at the 177th grand monthly drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery, on Tuesday, February 10th.

The sum of $265,500 was fairly placed by the hand of fortune where it probably will do the most good. At sample bricks, how the goddess treats her votaries, we note that ticket No. 28,600 drew the first capital prize of $75,000, and was sold as a whole to a resident of San Francisco, Cal., and collected through the Nevada Bank of that city. Ticket No. 88,414 drew the second capital prize of $25,000, and was sold to a party at New Orleans, La., visiting the exposition probably.

Ticket No. 1,735 drew the third capital prize of $10,000, and sold in full to Reuben Joel, 62 Monroe street, Lynn, Mass.; another collected through the First National Bank of Birmingham, Pittsburg, Pa., Nos. 70,929 and 98,476, drew each $6,000 and were held in New Orleans and Cincinnati, O., &c., &c. The whole thing will be repeated again on April 11th, of which M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., will give all information on application.

The following is from the Frankfort Capital: "Hon. David Poole, of Roebuck, Butler County, and State Senator from that district, was married on Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, at the Capitol Hotel, to Miss Etta Prather, sister of Hon. W. V. Prather, Clerk of the Kentucky Senate. The marriage was witnessed by quite a gathering of friends of the parties, and was celebrated by Rev. Mr. Bagby, of the Baptist Church, in a brief, but impressive and graceful manner. Miss Prather's friends claim for her all those admirable qualities which enter into the composition of an admirable wife. Senator Poole, outside of his efficiency and probity as a legislator, is a gentleman of the greatest courtesy and pleasing, and in every respect a most excellent gentleman and citizen. The Capital earnestly wishes for its friend and his excellent wife all the happiness with which a kind Providence may strew their pathway. Mr. and Mrs. Poole left immediately for Louisville, en route to their home in Roebuck, Butler County. The many friends of the bride in this neighborhood extend their hearty congratulations and best wishes.

"Fizzled Out."

This is what a once prosperous merchant said to himself, the other day. His business had faded out, credit was gone, and the sheriff had sold his goods. The trouble proceeded from a prolonged attack of dyspepsia, which prostrated and unsettled him so that he could not attend to his affairs. Pity he hadn't thought of Brown's Iron Bitters, which would have saved him. Mr. A. J. Lawrence, 172 S. Broadway, Baltimore, says, "Malaria and dyspepsia trouble me for nine years. Brown's Iron Bitters gave me relief."

PERNOVALS.

BOOMERS CHECKMATED.

CAPT. COUCH WILL NOT MOVE ON OKLAHOMA AND THE STRIP.

President Cleveland Hails the Pilgrims in a Desert of Discord—Boomers Want to Defy Orders and March to Destination.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kas., March 18.—Capt. Couch and his Oklahoma boomers did no break camp, as was anticipated, and leave for the south, as the president's proclamation interfered somewhat with their plans. They are still in camp at this point, hoping the president may reconsider his decision and yet give them the permission they have vainly sought from the Hayes and Arthur administrations. Gen. Weaver, of Iowa, and ex-Congressman Sidney Clark of Kansas, who are with the boomers, have wired their agents telegraphed the colonists not to be heartened, as the cabinet would again consider the Oklahoma question at their regular meeting. Some of the hot-heads among the boomers are for making the attempt to reach Oklahoma, regardless of the president's proclamation and the United States troops, but their number is small.

Mr. Benton, in camp, telegraphed couch, March 17, that if this plan was to be in effect he would be compelled to hold the leaders in check with his trained Indian fighters who for the past three or four years had been hunting and fighting Apache Indians in Arizona, New Mexico, and who had just then driven back. He was joined by Capt. Parker and his troops of the Ninth cavalry, who since leaving Fort Sill have marched over 200 miles, coming by way of Fort Supply and Caldwell. There is no fear of a conflict between the troops and the boomers, as the latter are not foolish enough to march against the government, even had Couch ten thousand and colonized at his back instead of one thousand.

Capt. Couch said it was untrue as had been telegraphed abroad that the president's proclamation would result in the disbandment of the colonists.

The stockmen now holding cattle in the Cherokee strip are highly elated over the president's proclamation and claim that it is a decision in their favor and signifies that they now have the government's permission to go to Oklahoma. Oklahoma stockmen are not to be modest. Some of the large cattle companies and syndicates who ranges join the Oklahoma territory have all along claimed ex-Secretary Teller's decision gave them this right and for that reason have never been afraid to go to Oklahoma and claim their herds were on the Cherokee strip or on Oklahoma lands. These statements are constantly thrown in the face of the boomers and are what is exasperating them to such a point that they are ready to do almost anything.

One of the leaders said that if President Cleveland wished to solve the whole question and leave it to the courts he could do by issuing a proclamation to keep their stock outside of Oklahoma and then compel the army to enforce the order.

The Indians on North Fork and the country north of the Cheyenne agency and Fort Supply are now in a panic, trying to get away and will leave if they can't find a place to stay at any moment. Gen. Parker predicts that if Oklahoma is opened for settlement, the army will be called upon in less than six months to protect the settlers.

From Eight to Which One Man is Fatally and Two Severely Hurt.

TORONTO, Ont., March 18.—Two brothers, Robert and William Duplex, went to the Genghis's house, rear of No. 9 Tassaline street, and demanded drink. The occupant of the house refused it, and the two Indians, Finsen Reiss and Frank Fols, went to help him to pay the bill.

A free fight ensued, during which 12-year-old Robert Duplex sixteen times struck Finsen in different parts of the body. William Duplex was wounded in two or three places, and Finsen and his son severely cut. Considering the severity of the fight, went into the house and was knocked senseless by blow received to his front ax.

The Indians then bolted, but were shortly afterwards recaptured. Robert Duplex was taken to the hospital, where he was considered to be in a critical condition. McCusker was also taken to the hospital, and Consul Hart was driven home. William Duplex had his wound attended to at the police station. McCusker's wife and a young woman named Weston, who were in the house at the time of the fight, were also arrested.

Harvard's Hasty-Pudding Club.

BOYCE, March 18.—A party of 150 men of the Harvard Hasty-Pudding Club to New York for the purpose of giving a theatrical exhibition for the benefit of the navy, is set down for next month, and the members have now begun to make great preparations. They are not to be inferior to the famous fairs. But there must be no public sale of tickets, because such would savor too much of professionalism, against which the university, by its president, is dead set.

The Florida Chautauqua.

LAKE DEFUMA, Fla., March 18.—The ever-reliable Florida Chautauqua has closed its work, but every summer school in the southern association for a month has given a general diffusion of knowledge throughout the earth. Resolutions offered by prominent southern men were passed, expressing sympathy for the Negro, and addressed to the government to demand promptly to arrest and punish the dynastic criminals who are plotting murder against a friendly people.

Kingsoppers Arrested.

BANGOR, Me., March 18.—Charles Ryerson and William Turner, colored aged forty and thirty-five years respectively, were arrested for kidnapping a girl fifteen years old, and for endeavoring to kidnap his daughter, keeping her at night, and the next morning brought her off to a station leading to the city and left her. The friends of the girl informed City Marshal Reid, who caused an arrest.

Four worth the study.

BANGOR, Me., March 18.—Prof. Jessie Bangs, a graduate of Edinburgh university, has for some time been in Boston, where she had been a student in the Peabody. She had filled the chair of Greek and Latin in several colleges. A strong religious excitement this winter unbalanced her mind, with the result aforesaid.
